Learn and unlearn without losing sight of design and style.

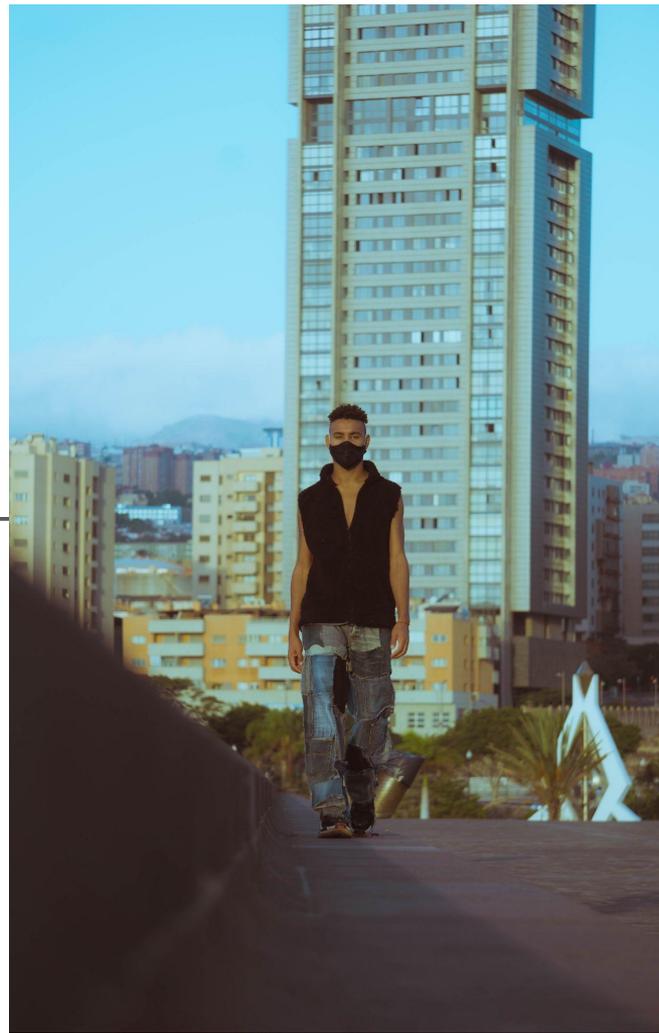

CHECK-IN

CHECK-IN, a fashion editorial inspired by Jean-Michel Basquiat, exudes character, power, and vitality, challenging the fashion industry with original recycled garments that symbolize the strength and rebellion of new generations.

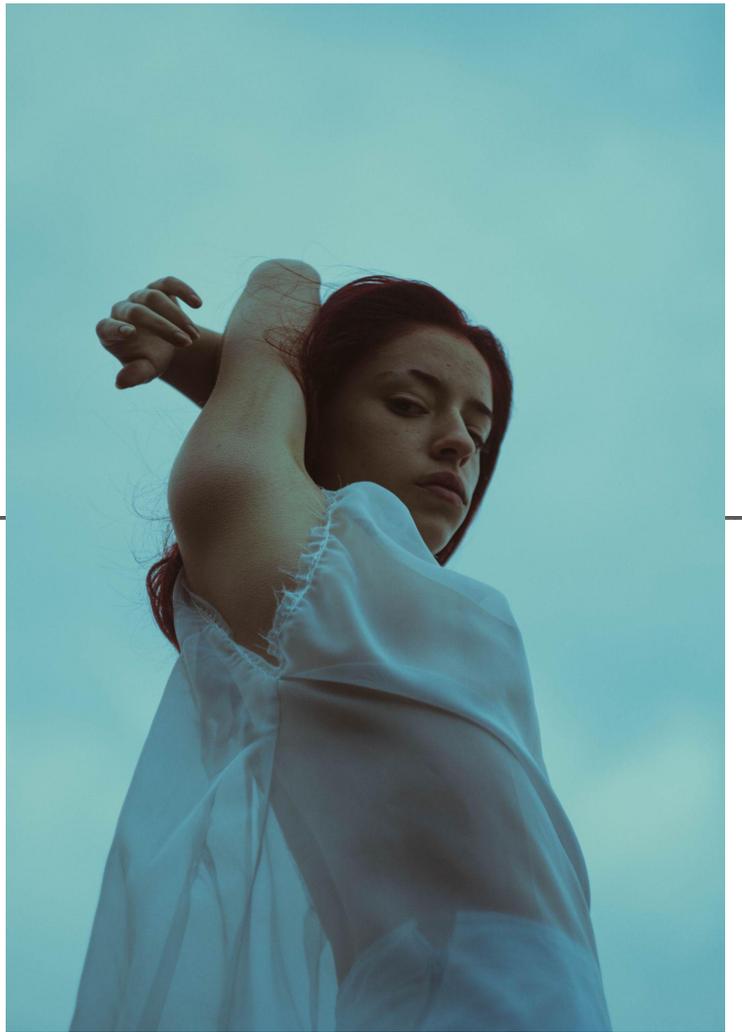

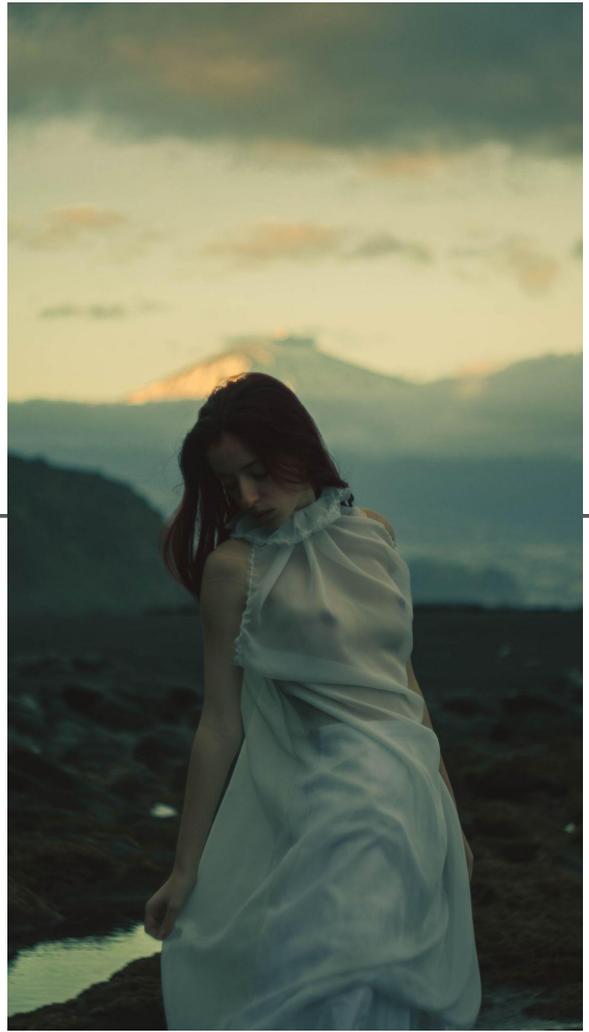

ALÍA

Alía, a fashion editorial, draws inspiration from the Nereids, sea creatures of Greek mythology. Its purpose is to advocate for environmental awareness and ocean conservation, achieved through the exclusive use of recycled materials in its creation.

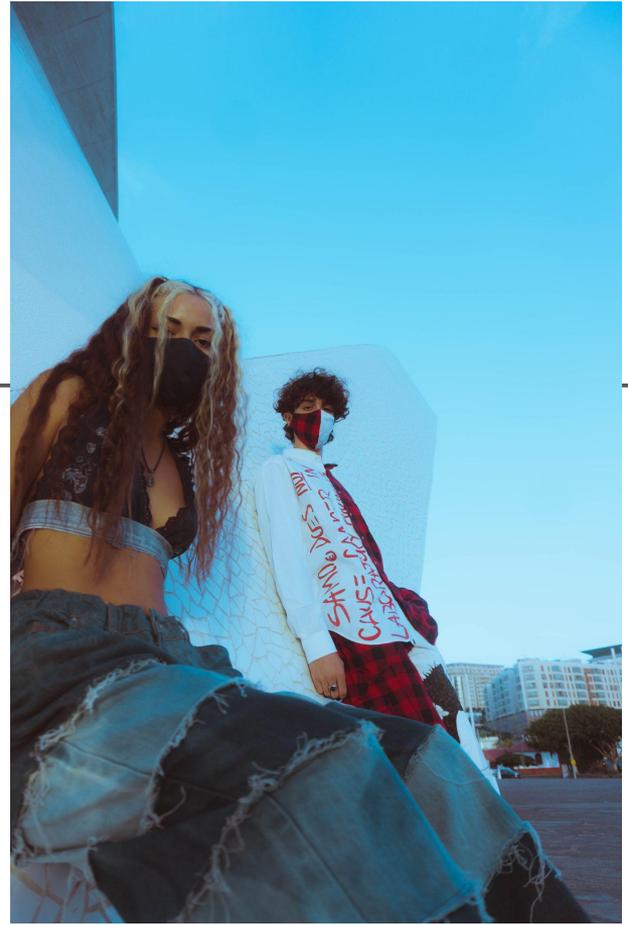

Objectives:

Fostering a conscious lifestyle, I strive to leave a mark with each step. Embracing growth without sacrificing style, I aim to make Slow Fashion accessible to all.

Get to know a bit of me:

I cherish the backstory of every project or idea as much as its outcome. Intentions and dreams define us individually and collectively. I advocate for second chances beyond just in attire, believing in the power of reinvention, resilience, and starting anew. "Better late than never" resonates with me, as it's never too late to pursue what truly matters with sincerity. At twenty-four, my passion for fashion is clear, as is my aversion to the ephemeral, wasteful, and ethically questionable.

Thanks.
